"Nearing Dusk Along the Trail" by Cally Krallman

2021 FIELD JOURNAL

Volume XIII

This year marks the 200th anniversary of the Santa Fe Trail, which stretched westward from Missouri through the Flint Hills and on to what is now Santa Fe, New Mexico. Our 2021 Field Journal commemorates the milestone with stories about the trail itself, life on the trail, the wagons and freight hauled over it and the men and women who traveled or were affected by the trail. The Journal is divided into three sections that takes a broad look at the trail from end to end, highlights the important role the Flint Hills community of Council Grove played in the journey of travelers and touches on the darker side of the Trail and its impact on the fate of the Indian tribes who lived along it.

Purchase the 2021 Field Journal in the Field Journal and Flint Hills Store tents at our Signature Event.
